Re: NOTICE OF VIOLATION of Washington State Public Disclosure Act (RCW 42.17) by the National Education Association pursuant to RCW 42.17.400(4)

Dear Ms. Gregoire and County Prosecutors,

I represent the Evergreen Freedom Foundation (EFF) and certain public school employees, including Lowell Johnson, Carrie Riplinger, Susan Kobes and David Williams. EFF works to advance individual liberty, free enterprise and responsible government. Given these policy interests, EFF has a record of protecting free and fair elections through the vigorous enforcement of the campaign finance laws and protecting the paychecks of teachers from the collection and use of their funds for political purposes without their consent.

The purpose of this letter is to inform you on behalf of my clients, pursuant to RCW 42.17.400(4), that there is reason to believe that since 1992, the National Education Association (NEA) has been, is and will continue to violate the Public Disclosure Act (PDA), RCW 42.17.

1. Violations of RCW 42.17.040 et. seq. and RCW 42.17.680(3). The NEA's Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis and Media Campaign Fund ("Ballot/Media Fund"), constitutes an unregistered political committee. Failure to register as a political committee violates RCW 42.17.040, et. seq.. Moreover, the Ballot/Media Fund consists in part of dues and fees automatically deducted from Washington State public school employee's wages. This diversion of employee wages to the aforementioned unregistered political committee has been and is being made without authorization in violation of RCW 42.17.680(3).

2. Violations of RCW 42.17.760. The NEA collects and commingles agency fees into its general fund. Additionally it collects and commingles agency fees into the "Ballot/Media Fund." The NEA makes contributions and expenditures to influence elections, support political committees and ballot measures from these commingled General and "Ballot/Media" Funds. These political expenditures are made in Washington and other states without obtaining affirmative authorizations. Thus the NEA is making political expenditures in violation of RCW 42.17.760 from both its General Fund as well as the "Ballot/Media Fund."

I. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Through its affiliate the Washington Education Association (WEA), the NEA collects union dues and agency fees from Washington public school employees. For the 2001-02 school year, the NEA will collect $126 from each of the approximately 73,000 Washington public school employees who are represented by its local affiliates. This amount includes the special assessment discussed below.

On July 5, 2000 the NEA Representative Assembly passed bylaw amendment 2-7n entitled "Special dues increase to assist affiliates with ballot measures/legislative crises and to fund national and state media campaigns." This is the above referenced "Ballot/Media Fund." The dues increase became effective on September 1, 2000 and expires in 2005. The NEA uses the "Ballot/Media Fund" as follows: sixty (60) percent of the monies to support or oppose state ballot measures and the remaining forty (40) percent for state-based media campaigns. See Exhibit A.

The NEA publicly admits the purpose of the fund is to influence state ballot propositions and may be using the fund to influence state legislative races. See Exhibit B and C.

NEA members have been notified of the political purposes of the Ballot/Media Fund through the NEA's newsletter, web site and other publications disseminated to members. NEA members elected representatives to the 2000 Representative Assembly who created the fund. Therefore, members and non-members know or should know the Fund will be used to influence elections, including elections in Washington state. See, Exhibit D, NEA Today Online, Sept. 2000 (<http://www.nea.org/neatoday/0009/neara.html>) and Exhibit E, Washington Times, July 7, 2000, NEA Raising Dues to Combat Vouchers.

The NEA and WEA entered into an "Agreement" (Exhibit F) whereby the parties attempt to avoid the prohibitions of RCW 42.17 by claiming the dues increase withheld from Washington public school employees will not be used in Washington state to support or oppose ballot measures, only media campaigns. The "Agreement" is a sham and has been ignored by the parties. The Election/Media Fund was used to influence Washington state ballot measures. According to NEA's internal documents, monies from the fund have been utilized in Washington state to support state ballot propositions. In one year alone, NEA spent $500,000 from the fund in Washington state to support statewide ballot measures. See, Exhibit G, Memorandum Report to Delegates to the 2001 NEA Representative Assembly on the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, May 2001. See also, Exhibit H (1), (2), (3), Various PDC Reports.

To claim that agency fees collected in Washington state are not used to support ballot measure campaigns in and outside of Washington is equally misleading. All monies collected nationwide for the Ballot/Media Fund, including monies from Washington agency fee payers, are dedicated for the aforementioned purposes of the fund. Therefore, every Washington state dollar used "exclusively" for media purposes, frees up an additional 60 cents collected in other states to spend on ballot measures in Washington and other states.

In an action prosecuted by your office for violations of RCW 42.17.760, (PDC v. Washington Education Association, No. 00-2-01837-9.), the Honorable Gary Tabor agreed with your office and rejected a similar "stack-the-money" argument advanced by the WEA.. The court held that despite the existence of allegedly sufficient reserves to offset the agency fees collected from non-members, any distinction these fees were used for non-political purposes and the reserves for political purposes prohibited by the statute, was "forever obscured when the funds collected are 'commingled' into the general fund." See, Exhibit I, Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, page 4.

The NEA likewise commingles all monies collected through the special assessment by depositing them in the same fund: "The membership dues that are received by NEA pursuant to Bylaw 2-7n. will not be placed in the NEA's general treasury, but will be placed instead in a separately-established segregated fund." (Exhibit F, emphasis supplied).

II. NEA VIOLATION OF RCW 42.17.040 and 42.17.680(3)

The Election/Media Fund constitutes a political committee as defined by the PDA:

"[A]ny person (except a candidate or an individual dealing with his or her own funds or property) having the expectation of receiving contributions or making expenditures in support of, or opposition to, any candidate or any ballot proposition."

RCW 42.17.020(33).

The NEA established the fund for the express purpose of affecting state ballot propositions, including Washington state. As demonstrated above the facts indicate that the NEA has in fact contributed at least $500,000 to affect the outcome of ballot propositions in Washington state in a single year (Exhibits G and H above). Attorney General Letter Opinion No. 114 issued within months of the enactment of the statute (Initiative 276, 1972), interprets the statutory definition of political committee as follows:

"If . . . either as a part of their regular dues or in addition thereto the members of such an organization [labor union] are called upon to make payments to it which are thus segregated and used for those purposes under circumstances whereby the contributors know (or should know, if reasonably observant) of that practice, then those payments will in our judgment be 'contributions' within the meaning of that statutory definition and the organization, hence, will be a political committee as therein defined."

AGLO 1973 No. 114, p. 5.

Clearly, Washington members and non-members are compelled to make payments to the NEA's "segregated" Ballot/Media Fund. When the NEA members and non-members in Washington state make these payments, they know or should know the purpose of the accurately-named "Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund." NEA should be compelled to register the fund as a political committee, pay a substantial fine for its willful violation of the PDA, pay punitive damages and return the dues and fees withheld without member's consent.

III. NEA VIOLATION OF RCW 42.17.760.

A. NEA Special Assessment for Ballot/Media Fund.

In the 2001 "Hudson notice" sent exclusively to agency fee payers, the recipients are informed that an "agency fee . . . equal to the amount of dues paid by Association members" is collected (Exhibit J, 2001 Hudson Notice Packet). There is no mention of a reduction for the special $5 assessment. Moreover, there is no mention that non-members must first affirmatively authorize the special assessment before it will be withheld. Rather, unless the agency fee payer objects, she will have to pay the equivalent of union dues. Judge Tabor has expressly ruled the failure to object does not satisfy the affirmative authorization requirement of RCW 42.17.760. The NEA's collection and use of the $5 dues increase infringes upon the First Amendment rights of agency fee payers and undermines the public's interest in fair and free elections and violates RCW 42.17.760.

B. NEA General Agency Fees.

The NEA also uses the agency fees of Washington non-members that it deposits into its general account to influence elections and support political committees in violation of RCW 42.17.760. For example, it is now a matter of public record that in 1996, the NEA contributed $410,000 from its general fund to the WEA's campaign to defeat Initiatives 173 and 177.

We note that the NEA concedes in the Hudson notice (Exhibit J) that 43% of its budget is spent on politics and other non-chargeable activities. By comparison its affiliate, the WEA, concedes it spent 24% on politics and other non-chargeable activities and it agreed to refund to agency fee payers 8% of the agency fee as the portion it spends "to influence elections and support political committees." Certainly, a same or higher portion of NEA's non-chargeable activities is to influence elections and support political committees.

Most significantly the NEA recently returned $10.08 of the $126 it collected from Washington state agency fee payers for the 2001-02 year (See Exhibit K). Although not a party to the PDC's successful lawsuit against the WEA in which WEA was ordered to return 8% of fees to non-members, the NEA returned 8% to agency fee payers, all but conceding it used their funds for the political purposes prohibited by RCW 42.17.760. However, the NEA has made no effort to properly account for the agency fees it collected in this and previous years in violation of RCW 42.17.760, nor has it returned the funds it unlawfully collected since 1992.

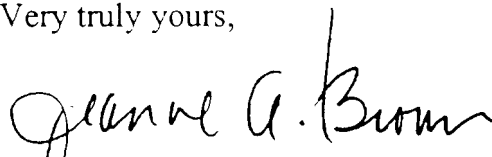

The NEA spends far more on non-chargeable activities than the WEA thus application of the 8% number to the NEA bears no relationship to its actual political expenditures as a proportion of its overall expenditures. Clearly, the return of $10 does not excuse the NEA from its legal obligation to obtain the affirmative authorization of Washington agency fee payers prior to using their wages to influence elections and support political committees. There is no evidence suggesting that the NEA tracks its political expenditures separately in order to adequately account for them. Nor that it will do so in the future.

By collecting and using Washington agency fees for its Election/Media Fund and other political activity funded through its general treasury, NEA violates RCW 42.17.760 and should be ordered to stop collecting agency fees until it obtains non-members' affirmative authorization. The NEA should be ordered to account for its political expenditures since 1992 and return to agency fee payers funds it wrongfully collected. Finally, the NEA should be ordered to pay penalties for its willful violation of the statute.

We request that you immediately commence an action in the courts to address these violations and protect the paychecks of public school employees. If you do not do so, the Evergreen Freedom Foundation and interested public school employees will seek appropriate legal and equitable relief pursuant to RCW 42.17.400(4). My clients reserve the right to seek appropriate legal and equitable relief under the common law and other applicable state and federal statutory law.

I look forward to meeting with you to discuss this matter and to provide further assistance at your request.

Very truly yours,

Jeanne A. Brown

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
AND THE
WASHINGTON EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The 2000 Representative Assembly of the National Education Association ("NEA") adopted Bylaw 2-7.n., which increases the membership dues of NEA Active and Student members for a five-year period, beginning with NEA's 2000-01 membership year and continuing through NEA's 2004-05 membership year. A copy of Bylaw 2-7.n. is attached hereto as Attachment A.

The membership dues that are received by NEA pursuant to Bylaw 2-7.n. will not be placed in NEA's general treasury, but will be placed instead in a specially-established segregated fund ("Fund"). This Fund will have three separate components -- one designed to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures, a second designed to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with legislative crises, and a third designed to pay for national and state media campaigns to advance the cause of public education and publicize the role of NEA and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education.

Bylaw 2-7.n. includes the following proviso:

Where necessary to avoid legal problems under state law, the Association and a state affiliate may, at the request of the state affiliate, enter into a written agreement providing that the money collected from members of that state affiliate shall not be used to deal with ballot measures, but shall be used only to deal with legislative crises and/or to fund the national media campaign.

In response to a request by the Washington Education Association ("WEA") pursuant to the foregoing proviso, NEA and WEA agree as follows:

1. The membership dues that are collected from NEA members in Washington pursuant to Bylaw 2-7.n. will be transmitted to NEA by WEA separately from other NEA membership dues.
2. Forty percent (40%) of the membership dues that are collected from NEA members in Washington pursuant to Bylaw 2-7.n. will be allocated to the media campaign component of the Fund, and the remaining sixty percent (60%) will be allocated to the legislative crises component of the Fund. No portion of said dues will be allocated to the component of the Fund that is used to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures.

This Agreement shall become effective as of the beginning of NEA's 2000-01 membership year, and shall remain in effect through the end of NEA's 2004-05 membership year.

Memorandum

TO: Delegates to the 2001 NEA Representative Assembly
FROM: Bob Chase Bob
RE: NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund

Attached is the first annual report on the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, as required by the guidelines adopted by the NEA Board of Directors in September 2000.

The 2000 RA approved a special dues increase to support the NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. The purpose of the Fund is to assist state affiliates in combating the increasing number of attacks on public education. Sixty percent of the dues increase is allocated to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund and 40 percent to the NEA Media Campaign Fund for a national media campaign to publicize the role of the Association and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education.

The report gives a summary of Fund activity for the year and the allocation of resources to state affiliates. The Association's position in each case is provided.

NEA BALLOT MEASURE/LEGISLATIVE CRISIS FUND ANNUAL REPORT

May 2001

SUMMARY

The NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund provided $9.39 million in assistance to 15 state affiliates for ballot measure and legislative crisis campaigns during the 2000-01 fiscal year. The budget for 2000-01 provided a total of $9.4 million, including $5.1 million from the special dues increase approved by the 2000 Representative Assembly, $2 million from the 1999-2000 NEA budget surplus, and $2.15 million from the 2000-02 NEA budget. The allocation of over $9 million to ballot initiative and legislative crisis campaigns leaves a balance of $10,342.

Overall, the Association achieved significant ballot measure and legislative victories with the overwhelming defeat of voucher proposals in both Michigan and California, the passage of a cost-of-living increase for education employees in Washington, and the defeat of paycheck protection and private school tax credit legislation in Montana.

FUND GUIDELINES

In September 2000, the NEA Board of Directors adopted guidelines for the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, setting out a process for review and evaluation of affiliate requests for assistance. The guidelines also established a Fund Oversight Committee with responsibility for recommending action on affiliate applications for assistance. The Oversight Committee includes the NEA Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer, President of the National Council of State Education Associations, and the NEA Directors of Communications and Government Relations.

ALLOCATION OF FUND RESOURCES

BALLOT MEASURES

Arizona

$550,000 to the Arizona Education Association:

- Proposition 203: English for the Children – PASSED (65% - 35%)
The initiative, opposed by the Association, requires that all public school instruction be conducted in English.
- Proposition 301: Sales Tax for Education – PASSED (54% - 46%)
The initiative, supported by the Association, raises the state sales tax by 0.6% (to 5.6%). Revenues generated will be dedicated to education, including additional money for school safety programs, education employee salary increases, and class size reduction.

- Ballot Measure 98: Use of Public Resources for Political Purposes – FAILED (46% - 54%)
The measure, opposed by the Association, would have amended the state constitution to prohibit the use of public funds to collect political funds. The measure not only would have taken away public employee's right to choose when and how to participate in the political process, but would also have affected charities and other organizations that use payroll deduction.

South Dakota

$5,000 to the South Dakota Education Association:

- Amendment E: Investing Public Revenues – PASSED (56% - 44%)
The amendment, supported by the Association, allows the Department of Schools and Public Lands to invest funds in the same manner as retirement funds. The measure will increase returns by $10 million, all of which will benefit schools.

Washington

$450,000 to the Washington Education Association:

- Initiative #728: Class Size – PASSED (69% - 31%)
The initiative, supported by the Association, directs that certain existing state revenue – including lottery revenue, lottery proceeds, existing property taxes, and budget reserves – be used to help school districts reduce class sizes, extend learning programs, expand teacher training, and construct facilities.
- Initiative #732: Cost of Living Increase – PASSED (59% - 41%)
The initiative, supported by the Association, provides annual cost-of-living salary adjustments to school district employees, academic employees of community and technical college districts, and certain employees of technical colleges. The measure was qualified for the ballot by the Washington Education Association.

LEGISLATIVE ASSISTANCE

Idaho

$10,000 to the Idaho Education Association:

- HB 311: Income Tax Credit for Private and Parochial School Students – PASSED (36 - 32 vote)
The legislation, opposed by the Association, allows for income tax credits for corporations and individual taxpayers to cover the costs of private and religious school tuition. EXHIBIT 1
- HB 362: Repeal of State Codes – FAILED (15 - 1 vote)
The legislation, opposed by the Association, would have undermined teachers' due process rights during the contract renewal process by eliminating such rights as fair hearings.

Nevada

$100,000 to the Nevada State Education Association:

- Increased Education Funding – FOUND UNCONSTITUTIONAL
The Legislation, supported by the Association, would have provided for a 4 percent net profit business tax earmarked for K-12 education funding. The state Supreme Court found the initiative unconstitutional as drafted.

North Dakota

$116,500 to the North Dakota Education Association:

- Increased Teacher Compensation – PASSED
The legislation, supported by the Association, provides for an increase in teacher salaries of $3,500 over two years.

Washington

$50,000 to the Washington Education Association:

- Full Funding of Pro-Education Ballot Measures – PENDING
The legislation, supported by the Association, would provide for full funding of the cost-of-living and class size reduction ballot measures approved by the electorate in 2000.

Wyoming

$60,000 to the Wyoming Education Association:

- Increased K-12 Funding – PASSED
The legislation, supported by the Association, increases K-12 funding by $85 million. Funds will be applied toward increased teacher salaries and recruitment and retention programs.

FUND REPORTING

- Pursuant to the Fund guidelines, quarterly reports were presented to the NEA Executive Committee and NEA Board of Directors throughout the 2000-01 period.

TO: Certificated and AHE Agency Fee Payers
FROM: James S. Seibert, Executive Director
DATE: February 7, 2001
RE: 2000-01 AGENCY FEE

State statutes, RCW 41.59.100 (certificated) and RCW 28B.52.045 (AHE) allow your Local Education Association, an affiliate of the Washington Education Association (WEA) and the National Education Association (NEA), to negotiate an agency fee provision in a collective bargaining agreement. This law states that the school or college district may deduct (and forward to the education association) from the salary of those who choose not to become Association members an agency fee equal to the amount of dues paid by Association members.

The amount of the WEA membership dues for the 2000-01 school year is $287.00 plus $12.00 dues for political education. Agency fee payers, however, do not pay the $12.00 dues devoted to political education. WEA members may choose to pay, in addition to WEA dues, $12.00 per year for contribution to the WEA Political Action Committee, WEA-PAC. These monies are used for state and local elections, supporting candidates. No agency fees go to WEA-PAC. As an agency fee payer, the WEA-PAC contribution will not be deducted from your paycheck and you will not be asked to contribute to WEA-PAC.

WEA members pay dues to WEA, a Local Association, a UniServ Council, and the National Education Association (NEA). This is because in our experience, the multi-level structure best enables the Association to provide representational services most efficiently without overlapping.

In addition to the WEA agency fee, you will also be required to pay an agency fee to the NEA, and, if they chose to collect one, to your Local Association and UniServ Council. The amount of Local dues can be ascertained by referring to Appendix A, which lists locals in alphabetical order. The amount of UniServ Council dues can be ascertained by referring to Appendix B, which lists councils in alphabetical order.

The amount of the NEA dues in the 2000-01 school year is $123.00; no dues go to the NEA-Fund for Children in Public Education (NEA-FCPE). NEA members may choose to pay, in addition to dues, $12.00 per year as a contribution to the political fund, NEA-FCPE. These monies are used to contribute to federal political campaigns for pro-education candidates. No agency fees are directed to NEA-FCPE; as an agency fee payer, the NEA-FCPE contribution will not be deducted from your paycheck and you will not be asked to contribute to NEA-FCPE.

The agency fee pays for many important services of benefit to you; the following is a partial list of such services.

1. The Association represents you in your relationship to your employer.
2. Association staff or leaders bargain a collective bargaining agreement on behalf of all members of your bargaining unit; that collective bargaining agreement controls your wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment.
3. Should the school district violate the collective bargaining agreement in its treatment of you, the Association can file a grievance on your behalf.
4. If you are called in for a disciplinary interview with your supervisor or other administrator, you may request Association representation during the interview.
5. WEA negotiates with insurance companies, such as Blue Cross/Blue Shield, so that such companies will design insurance packages to meet the unique needs of school employees, and so that such packages will be marketed to school districts at the lowest possible price.
6. WEA sponsors many courses and workshops to train local leaders to protect the rights of members and agency fee payers.

This is not an exhaustive list of services you receive from WEA, your Local Association, your UniServ Council and NEA.

There are certain services available to members which you will not receive as an agency fee payer. One of these is the Educators Employment Liability Insurance Policy. This policy provides up to $1,000,000 insurance if a member is sued on the basis of employment related activities. Under certain circumstances, it also provides up to $35,000 to pay attorney's fees if a member is charged with a crime related to employment. Additionally, WEA members receive a discount on personal legal services, such as wills, probate, domestic relations, and real estate matters; agency fee payers do not receive this discount. Moreover, pursuant to the terms of the WEA Legal Defense Policy, WEA may provide an attorney to defend its members when their employer seeks to discharge or non-renew; agency fee payers are not entitled to eligibility for legal services.

If you as an agency fee payer object to the Association spending any part of your agency fee on political or ideological activities not related to collective bargaining or contract administration and enforcement, or on services which agency fee payers do not receive, you will not be charged for these activities and services. You will, however, be charged for expenditures for activities related to bargaining, contract administration and enforcement, and improving your working conditions. A list of items we view as chargeable and items we deem nonchargeable is set forth in Appendix C.

You have three options: (1) you may pay the full amount equal to dues paid by members; (2) you may object to use of your agency fee for nonchargeable activities but accept the Association's determination of the amount of the fee that is chargeable as is set forth in this letter; or (3) you may choose to object to the use of your agency fee for nonchargeable activities and challenge the Association's calculation of the amounts that are chargeable and nonchargeable, and/or our characterization of items as chargeable or nonchargeable, before an impartial arbitrator. If the third of these options is chosen, the Association bears the burden of proving to the arbitrator that any particular expenditure was chargeable to agency fee payers.

You may object by notifying James Seibert in writing at the following address:

James Seibert, Executive Director
Washington Education Association
33434 Eighth Avenue South
Federal Way, Washington 98003

The objection must contain the following information:

1. Your name, home address, school and home telephone numbers.
2. The type of position in which you are employed (i.e., community college faculty, K-12 teacher, etc.).
3. Whether you are employed part time, full time, or as a substitute.
4. The name of the school district by which you are employed and the name of the WEA affiliate which is the collective bargaining representative for the bargaining unit in question.

5. If you wish to challenge the Association's calculation of the amounts that are chargeable and nonchargeable, or our characterization of items as chargeable or nonchargeable, your objection letter must state that you wish to "challenge".

If such written objection has not been postmarked by March 9, 2001, you will waive your ability to object.

Only a single general statement of objection and/or challenge is necessary to object to and/or challenge the WEA agency fee, the NEA agency fee, the Local agency fee and the UniServ Council agency fee.

In considering whether you wish to object to the amount of the fee, please examine the following documents:

1. Appendix D. The description of the WEA expenditure budget for the 1998-99 fiscal year.
2. Appendix E. WEA chargeable and nonchargeable expenditures by budget area for 1998-99.
3. Appendix F. The audited statement of WEA expenses in the 1998-99 fiscal year, which includes the auditor's review of the chargeable/nonchargeable calculations.
4. Appendix G. How WEA calculates its agency fee.
5. Appendix H (if applicable). If your UniServ Council is seeking to collect an agency fee: 1) A declaration from an officer or staff member of the Council, explaining the operation of the Council and its financial records, and incorporating the Council's 1998-99 year-end financial statements, including its breakdown of expenditures into chargeable and nonchargeable categories, and; 2) an independent audit of the Council's 1998-99 expenditures.
6. Appendix I (if applicable). If your Local Association is seeking to collect an agency fee, enclosed are: (1) A declaration from an officer of your Local Association, incorporating and explaining its 1998-99 financial and time keeping records, including its breakdown of expenditures into chargeable and nonchargeable categories, and; 2) If your Local has more than 850 members, an independent audit of the LEA's 1998/99 expenditures. Local Associations with more than 850 members include:

Bellevue EA
Edmonds EA
Everett EA
Evergreen EA
Federal Way EA
Highline EA
Kent EA
Lake Washington EA
Northshore EA
Puyallup EA
Seattle EA
Spokane EA
Tacoma EA
Vancouver EA

7. Appendix J. NEA cover memorandum.
8. Appendix J-1. NEA chargeable and nonchargeable audited expenditures for the 1998-99 fiscal year.
9. Appendix J-2. The audited NEA financial statement as of August 31, 1999 and 1998. This is an independent auditor's statement of expenditures made by the NEA.

If your local association is seeking to collect an agency fee, the percentage of local dues that an objector will pay differs depending on whether the association has more or less than 850 members. If your local association has more than 850 members, an objector will pay the actual percentage of local dues identified as "chargeable" in the enclosed local association declaration. If it has less than 850 members, an objector will pay WEA's chargeable percentage of local association dues as an agency fee, or the actual percent of local dues identified as chargeable in the enclosed declaration, whichever is less, unless that local association had an audit done of its 1998-99 expenditures. If an audit was performed (in which case the audit report is enclosed), an objector will pay the actual percentage of local dues identified as "chargeable" in the enclosed local association declaration.

The agency fee charged by the UniServ Council is the percentage of dues identified as chargeable in the enclosed council declaration.

For 2000-01, the agency fee charged by WEA is 75.7% of dues.

For 2000-01, the agency fee charged by NEA is 60% of dues.

In March of 1994, WEA presented evidence to an arbitrator to justify the application of WEA's chargeable percent to its councils and locals. At the arbitration, WEA presented evidence of the expenses of a number of local associations. The arbitrator ruled that WEA could use WEA's chargeable percent to calculate the chargeable fee of those locals because:

The evidence at the hearing made it clear that the Locals ..., because of their basic mission, must spend at least as much time, if not more, on representational issues. The staff and elected officers of these organizations must spend their time meeting with employer representatives to discuss issues of employee concern. They also spend a great deal of time meeting with individual employees with accusation, complaint, or grievance. And, as stated, they spend virtually no time in the most significant non-chargeable areas, being political action and public relations. I agree with the Associations (keeping in mind the Hudson admonishment that "absolute precision" is not required) that the local presumption option, which has been endorsed by some courts, is a valid alternative.

Accordingly, that arbitrator ruled that each of the locals could use WEA's chargeable percent. Four other arbitrators have also permitted the Association to use WEA's chargeable percent to estimate the locals' agency fee in this notice. In addition, use of WEA's chargeable percentage to estimate the agency fees for objectors in locals with fewer than 850 members was approved in 1998 by the U.S. District Court (W.D. Wash) as part of a settlement of a class action lawsuit.

Please examine the enclosed material and reflect for a moment on the services that the Association provides agency fee payers. I am confident that if you do so, you will agree that the Association delivers services worth the full amount of Association dues.

LETTER OPINION [PDC vs WEA] July 31, 2001

Dear Counsel:

On May 14-18th, this court presided over a trial in the above-entitled case and took the matter under advisement following closing arguments by the parties. Now, having considered the testimony presented at trial, the briefs and arguments of the parties and the applicable statutes and case authority, this court rules by way of this letter opinion.

BACKGROUND

The trial in this matter focused upon facts surrounding the collection of fees by the Washington Education Association [WEA] from non-union members called "fee payers" for a five year period [1995/1996 through 1999/2000]. These "fee payers" pay fees equal to the Union Dues paid by union members<sup>1</sup> unless they raise an objection. Those who object receive a refund based upon a formula that accounts for the ratio of "chargeable" to "nonchargeable" expenses.<sup>2</sup> The Public Disclosure Commission [PDC], plaintiff in this matter, claimed that portions of these fees were used for "political purposes" in violation of RCW 42.17.760<sup>3</sup>, that civil penalties<sup>4</sup> and costs should be imposed by this court, and that this court should consider whether any violations that might be found were "intentional" which would allow the court to "treble" any penalties and costs.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>1</sup> These fees do not include the amount union members pay as "Community Outreach Project" [COP] assessments. COP funds were not a part of this lawsuit.

<sup>2</sup> This process is called the Hudson process, see Chicago Teachers Union v. Hudson, 475 U.S. 292, 106 S.Ct. 2641 (1988) and distinguishes expenses that are "chargeable" to collective bargaining purposes from those which are not.

<sup>3</sup> RCW 42.17.760 Agency shop fees as contributions. A labor organization may not use agency shop fees paid by an individual who is not a member of the organization to make contributions or expenditures to influence an election or to operate a political committee, unless affirmatively authorized by the individual.

LETTER OPINION [PDC vs WEA] July 31, 2001

The parties had previously agreed that the WEA had committed multiple violations of RCW 42.17.760.<sup>6</sup> The agreement itself did not, however, specify what time period it covered. This court ruled, on March 23rd, 2001, at a pre-trial hearing, that the agreement time period would be the 1999-2000 school year and that alleged violations for the previous four years would be considered at trial. This court also ruled on summary judgment that RCW 42.17.760 is constitutional and requires an affirmative authorization from agency fee payers [as opposed to a passive failure to object] before the WEA may collect or use such fees for "political purposes".<sup>7</sup>

ISSUES

The court will rule on the following issues as a result of the evidence produced at trial and the positions of the parties:

1. Did the WEA use agency fees in fiscal [school] years 1995-96, 1996-97, 1997-98, and 1998-1999 for purposes forbidden in RCW 42.17.760?<sup>8</sup>
2. What is the appropriate amount of civil penalty to be imposed according to RCW 42.17.390(3)?
3. Were WEA's violations "intentional" and if so should penalties and costs be increased up to a treble amount as punitive damages under RCW 42.17.400(5)?
4. What other relief, if any should this court impose?

FINDINGS

I. THE WEA HAS USED AGENCY FEES IN VIOLATION OF RCW 46.17.760

The evidence produced at trial has convinced this court that the WEA did, in fact, use portions of the agency shop fees they received for "political purposes" that is, " . . . to make contributions or expenditures to influence an election or to operate a political committee, . . ." as prohibited by RCW 42.17.760. While this court understands the position of the WEA to the effect that they had sufficient reserves each year to more than offset the fee payor amounts in question, and that amounts involved are quite small percentage wise [both the amounts received from agency fee payers and amounts expended for political purposes], this court disagrees with that logic. Any distinction between "collecting" an agency fee [on the revenue side] and "expending" monies for a particular purpose [on the expense side] are forever obscured when the funds collected are "commingled" into the general fund.

It is clear to this court that the WEA position was that agency fees were placed into the general fund and were spent each year as the WEA determined appropriate.<sup>9</sup> Moreover, the WEA has further argued that even if the agency fees could have been separated, they would come back into the general fund at the end of the year as "surplus" funds. This reasoning is erroneous. This court could cite numerous examples of the unfairness of such a position, but in the interest of time and space will note only two:

First, the logical extension of such reasoning is that the WEA would, as a result of such fees, have more money to spend than if they had not collected them. If those funds could be construed to be spent only for non-political purposes, the WEA would still, obviously, have more monies to spend from other funds for political purposes. This is a clear-cut use of the total funds available for the given purposes in proportion to the source of the funds. While the percentage might be small, the agency fees are nevertheless used as a part of the over-all total expenditures, some of which were for prohibited purposes.

Second, if agency fee amounts are simply held, and not spent [part of the unexpended funds which existed each year] by the end of the fiscal year, WEA's position that they then lose their character and are simply a part of the surplus that can be carried over, would obviously prompt a practice of just waiting a year and spending the money without restrictions. This flies in the face of the underlying problem that this court has previously identified - that of collecting fees from

<sup>9</sup>That is, unless a agency fee-payer affirmatively objected to the use of his or her funds for purposes other than collective bargaining. If that case a portion of the fees would be returned to the fee-payer under the Hudson process.

agency fee payers without first gaining their affirmative authorization to do so. There would be no incentive to do so if the court were only to consider what was spent in the year it was collected.

In short, the WEA violates RCW 42.17.760 when it collects agency fees and then spends them for prohibited purposes in ratio to the total agency fees and dues collected<sup>10</sup> without affirmative authorization. While the amount spent for "political purposes" will be a component of the formula for assessing what portion of the agency fees are to be credited or returned to the agency fee payers, that amount need not be quantified for this court to rule as its initial finding that such fees are, indeed, being spent in violation of the statute. The issue of how the amount of political expenditures can be factored into a determination of the correct proportional adjustment to agency fees is best left to the "Other Court Remedies" discussion below.

II. THIS COURT ASSESSES A CIVIL PENALTY OF $200,000 AGAINST THE WEA.

Having found that the WEA violated the law as set forth in RCW 42.17.760 by using agency fees for political purposes without affirmative authorization as set forth above, the court must next address appropriate civil penalties, if any, under RCW 42.17.390(3).<sup>11</sup> A fine of up to $10,000 for each violation of the statute presents a broad number of options to this court. This court holds, first of all, that a civil penalty is appropriate in the present case aside from any amount of restitution or refund owed. While the WEA, during the 5 year period at issue, has collected and has had the benefit of monies it was not entitled to under the statute, this court is not addressing what, if any monies or damages any individual or group of fee payers would be entitled to.<sup>12</sup> Instead, this court notes that a penalty amount is appropriate to preserve the integrity of our system and promote public confidence; those violating statutes will be held to answer.

<sup>11</sup> (3) Any person who violates any of the provisions of this chapter may be subject to a civil penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars for each such violation.

<sup>12</sup> The court notes that this action was filed by the Office of the Attorney General of the State of Washington under RCW 42.17.400 (1) and is on behalf of the State of Washington as distinguished from individual agency fee payers. No fee payer sought to intervene in this matter although several individuals did ask for permission to submit amicus pleadings, which this court denied.

This court accepts, in principle, the arguments submitted by the Plaintiff herein. First of all, there cannot be an absolute determination of the amounts involved<sup>13</sup> either those lost to fee payers or gained by the WEA [costs avoided by not complying with the affirmative authorization requirement]. Secondly, the total number or even the identity of individuals involved cannot be determined since there were constant changes over the five-year period; nevertheless a penalty could be assessed as to each individual found to have been an agency fee payer if the court desired. Plaintiff proposed that the court consider a total of 8,000 individuals, [although the actual figure appears to be almost double that <sup>14</sup>], and that a penalty of $25 be assessed for each of those individuals for a total of $200,000. This court accepts that proposal as being fair to both sides under the present facts.<sup>15</sup>

III. THIS COURT FINDS AN INTENTIONAL VIOLATION BY THE WEA IN FAILING TO FOLLOW THE LAW AND DOUBLES THE AMOUNT OF DAMAGES AS A PUNITIVE SANCTION. THE COURT CHOOSES NOT TO DOUBLE COSTS.

This issue has been the most difficult trial issue for this court. I have listened carefully to the testimony of the witnesses and concede that there was ambivalence and a lack of official direction as to the correct interpretation of the "affirmative authorization" language by leaders for both the WEA and the PDC. On the other hand, it is clear to this court that much of that indecision on the part of the WEA was a desire to not have to get involved in a laborious process to secure such affirmative authorizations if they didn't have to. Despite a clear communication

<sup>14</sup> Exhibit 1 acknowledges that there were 4,194 agency fee payers in 1999/2000. The WEA argues that this number was over inclusive, so the Plaintiff has reduced that number to 3,200 per year; a total of 16,000 over five years. Plaintiff then cuts that figure in half ( 8,000) and asks for a penalty of $25 for each. That results in the requested $200,000 figure.

<sup>15</sup> Even if the court were to accept Ms. Lonnquist's argument that the WEA stipulated to only 4 violations for the fiscal year 1999 [4 times each year that moneys were not segregated], 4 violations in each of 5 years would constitute 20 violations; if assessed at $10,000 each that would still total $200,000.

from the Washington State Labor Council in 1997, <sup>16</sup> the WEA chose to take the easy road. This court will also observe that even when it became completely apparent that this obvious requirement had been ignored and the WEA stipulated to "multiple violations" in September of 2000 <sup>17</sup> the WEA could still not bring itself to acknowledge the obvious state of affairs and attempt to mitigate and negotiate the outcome of this dispute.

The PDC clearly did not move decisively to enforce this statute either; that is unfortunate. The PDC acted only when spurred to do so by citizen complaints. Any excuses that the PDC doesn't have to make regulations to explain statute compliance procedures serve no real purpose at this trial other than to further polarize the parties. The parties here are going to be required to work together in the future to accomplish what needs to be done in this case; this court would hope that previous communication problems will not be repeated. The fact remains however, a violation of statute is still a violation; for example a person who is speeding down a roadway does not have the right to speed just because a police officer does not make a traffic stop when the opportunity arises. The WEA argument that if the PDC had told them what was expected, they would have immediately complied, is not compelling to this court. The WEA clearly understood the PDC position leading to this trial and certainly did not immediately agree.

RCW 42.17.400(5) gives this court the discretion to treble the amount of judgment as punitive damages. <sup>18</sup> For the reasons discussed above, I find that the WEA "intentionally" chose not to comply with the clear language of the statute; this court imposes a punitive sanction of $400,000 [double the $200,000 civil penalty assessed above]. The court will also award the Plaintiff an appropriate amount of costs of investigation and trial, including attorney's fees [to be determined upon further information from the plaintiff and further hearings, if required]. I will not, however double [or treble] these costs and fees for the reasons discussed above. The punitive

<sup>18</sup> (5) In any action brought under this section, the court may award to the state all costs of investigation and trial, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court. If the violation is found to have been intentional, the amount of the judgment, which shall for this purpose include the costs, may be trebled as punitive damages. . . .

civil penalty is to punish the illegal actions of the WEA and is not intended as a reward or bonus to the PDC.

IV. THIS COURT DIRECTS THE WEA TO DEVELOP PROCEDURES TO IMPLEMENT THE AFFIRMATIVE AUTHORIZATION REQUIREMENTS OF RCW 42.17.760

This court must not only concern itself with the past violations of the statute but must also insure that the statute is followed in the future. During the course of trial and argument, it has been suggested by the WEA that this is an extremely difficult task and that other issues make compliance nearly impossible. The WEA argues that they cannot determine, in advance, the amounts that they will spend in a given year so that agency fee payers will not be charged the proportional amount. The PDC argues that amounts determined to be "nonchargeable" under the Hudson analysis don't account for other amounts that are "political". The PDC has stated that it is not seeking to have the WEA seek repeated affirmative authorizations and does not ask for a separate political fund to be set up. This court has already ruled that an affirmative authorization does not necessarily have to be in writing. These issues, and others, do appear to be substantial in number and in substance. This court does not suggest that it has a sufficient understanding of either of the parties positions to fashion a remedy of its own at this point. On the other hand, this court is convinced that a procedure can be developed to assure compliance with the statute. Consequently, the court will give the WEA a period of 90 days from today's date to report back to the court with a proposal to assure compliance.

The PDC, in the court's opinion, must also bear some responsibility in this task. It must provide the WEA assistance and feedback as the procedures are contemplated. This court expects that the parties will discuss and negotiate, and that consensus will be reached on as many details as possible. If the parties cannot agree, each side should provide suggested solutions for this court's consideration in arriving at a final procedure.

At the time of trial, the parties agreed to bifurcate the trial as to certain issues concerning specific expenditures or dollar amounts. This court is not prepared to rule at this time as to the nature of certain contested expenditures which may or may not be "political". Likewise, as previously noted, this court declines to rule on issues involving repayment or restitution amounts owed to individual fee payers.

There are no other issues, so far as the court is aware, that are ripe for this court's decision today.

CONCLUSION

This court today holds that the WEA has violated RCW 46.17.760 by using agency shop fees without affirmative authorization. The Court assesses a civil penalty of $200,000 against the WEA, finds that the violation was intentional, and doubles the penalty to $400,000 as a punitive sanction. The court also orders that appropriate costs for investigation and trial and attorney's fees be paid by the respondent; these amounts are not doubled and shall be specifically determined after further information and argument, if necessary. Finally, this court directs the WEA to develop, within 90 days, a plan to comply with the affirmative authorization requirements of the statute in the future. Because the Petitioner is the prevailing party, the PDC is directed to prepare and present an order for filing that reflects this court's decision as set forth in this letter opinion.

Sincerely,

Judge

1 30, 2001 concluding that defendant violated RCW 42.17.760 and that an injunction should be
2 entered, and the Court having considered further arguments and pleadings of the parties, now,
3 therefore,

4 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that defendant Washington Education Association shall
5 implement the following measures to comply with RCW 42.17.760 immediately and within 30
6 days of the date of this Order complete the following activities, unless a different date or time
7 period is otherwise specified for a specific activity in the terms of this Order below:

8 1. For each fiscal year from the present, WEA shall identify, record, and quantify all
9 expenditures and contributions to influence an election or operate a political committee (§ 760
10 expenses), which shall include all political advertising expenditures, as well as direct and in-kind
11 contributions, internal political communications, and independent expenditures. § 760 expenses
12 do not include expenditures made by WEA from its Community Outreach Program, which does 13 not utilize agency shop fees. Activities to accomplish this shall include the following:

14 a) Revise Weekly Activity Reports (WAR Reports) to include the Category Description items
15 enumerated 91 and 93, as shown on Exhibit 1 hereto, in the activities reported on WAR
16 Reports, and instruct and require employees who keep WAR reports to report time on 17 activities encompassed in Categories 91 and 93 and provide supervisory review of WAR
18 reports within a reasonable time following their completion;

19 b) For those employees who do not keep WAR Reports and who engage in activities that 20 meet the description of § 760 expenses, WEA shall instruct and require those employees to 21 keep Political Activity Reports (PAR Reports) and to report time on such activities in their 22

1 PAR Reports, whether or not those activities are reportable to the PDC.

2 c) Record for each advertising expense for political purposes or to influence an election, a 3 general description of the content, the identity of the candidate or ballot proposition to 4 which the advertising relates, if any, and take such other measures as are necessary to 5 identify and quantify political advertising expenses;

7 d) Record expenses and salaries associated with internal communications to enable
8 identification and quantification of all expenses of any internal communications to support
9 or oppose ballot propositions or candidates or otherwise are made to operate a political 10 committee or influence an election;

11 e) Record all direct and in-kind contributions to political committees or to influence elections;

12 f) For each WEA fiscal year, generate a written analysis of WEA's § 760 expenses, which 13 produces both the total dollars that were used for these purposes and the percentage of 14 WEA's total expenditures that were used for these purposes;

16 g) Obtain a certification of an independent audit that satisfies generally accepted accounting
17 and auditing standards of each fiscal year's analysis of all of WEA's § 760 expenses;

18 2. WEA shall return to all agency fee payers who have not affirmatively authorized (as 19 defined by the Court's ruling on Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment) the use of their 20 fees for expenditures or contributions to influence an election or operate a political committee
21 a percentage of the annual fees charged to the fee payer, in the following manner:

23 a) For WEA fiscal years 2001 – 2002, and 2002 – 2003, issue a refund or rebate in an amount
24 equal to eight percent (8 %) of the agency fee charged annually by WEA to the fee payer

1 for each fiscal year, and until the refunds or rebates are made, maintain in a segregated
2 account an amount equivalent to eight percent (8 %) of all agency fees received by the 3 WEA; however, no refunds or rebates need be given to fee payers who are objectors or 4 challengers under WEA's Hudson process and receive a refund of the non-chargeable
5 portion of their fees inclusive of the portion related to WEA's political expenditures;

7 b) For WEA fiscal year 2001 – 2002, the refund or rebate to agency fee payers shall be mailed
8 on or before January 15, 2002. Another mailing of rebates will be mailed on or before April 9 15, 2002 to capture any fee payers employed during the 2001 – 2002 fiscal year, but who 10 were unknown to WEA before December 31, 2002;

11 c) For WEA fiscal year 2002 – 2003, the refund or rebate to agency fee payers shall be mailed 12 to all known agency fee payers by November 15, 2002. Another mailing of rebates will be 13 mailed on or before April 15, 2003 to capture any fee payers employed during the 2002 –
14 2003 fiscal year, but who were unknown to WEA on November 15, 2002.

16 d) For fiscal years 2001 – 2002 and 2002 – 2003, any refunds or rebates that cannot be
17 conveyed to agency fee payers, because the rebates or refunds are returned to WEA
18 undelivered, or which WEA cannot mail, or for any other reason, shall be retained until the 19 end of the subject fiscal year by WEA in a segregated account, and if they remain 20 unclaimed and undeliverable by August 31 of that fiscal year, the unclaimed or 21 undeliverable funds so retained shall be distributed to the WEA Children's Fund, to the 22 American Red Cross, or to Northwest Harvest.
23

24 e) For WEA fiscal year 2003 – 2004, and every fiscal year thereafter, WEA shall reduce the 25

1 agency fees chargeable to agency fee payers from an amount equivalent to 100 percent of 2 member dues by

3 (i) the percentage of the WEA's total expenditures that are analyzed to have been used for 4 § 760 expenses in the second fiscal year prior, e.g. reductions in 2003 – 2004 shall be
5 based upon WEA's analysis of 2001 – 2002 expenditures,

7 (ii) plus a cushion of 3 percent of the annual agency fee for the respective fiscal year, in
8 order to take into account the annual variations that may occur in WEA's § 760
9 expenses, the short term agency fee payer who may not be employed long enough to 10 benefit from averaging of long term variations, and negligible errors in either
11 calculations or organizational expenses.

12 (f) Separate refunds or rebates will not be issued to fee payers who object or challenge and 13 receive a rebate equal to the non-chargeable percentage of WEA expenditures, pursuant to 14 federal case law and the Leer settlement agreement, as the § 760 expenses are already included
15 in the overall non-chargeable percentage of agency fees rebated to fee payers who object or 16 challenge.

18 3. WEA may release and deposit into its general fund 70 per cent of agency fees paid to 19 and for WEA during fiscal year 2000 – 2001 and which have been held in escrow; the 20 remaining 30 per cent shall be retained in escrow until a final resolution is reached in the 21 matter of Davenport v. WEA, Thurston County Superior Court Cause No. 01-2-00519-4. If 22 damages must be paid to plaintiffs by WEA in Davenport, then the escrowed amount may be 23 used for those damages. If defendant is not liable to plaintiffs in Davenport for agency fees

Dear Ms. Harris:

This letter is in response to your letter of February 25, 2002 requesting a confirmation of your written summary of our telephone conversation.

WEA has rebated on behalf of the NEA, UniServ Councils and Local Associations, an amount equal to 8% of the entire amount of agency fees paid by agency fee payers for the 2001-02 fiscal year. This rebate covers agency fees paid to the NEA, UniServ Councils, Local Associations, as well as to the WEA. It is WEA's intent to continue this practice for rebating agency fees next fiscal year, and to similarly reduce the amount of agency fees collected in future years on behalf of the NEA, UniServ Councils, Local Associations and WEA.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have further questions.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Trobaugh:

This letter is in response to your request for certain information regarding agency fees for the 2000-01 fiscal year.

All agency fees collected from agency fee payers during the 2000-01 fiscal year were kept in escrow from September 2000 until December 2001. Pursuant to the injunction issued by Judge Tabor in PDC v. WEA, No. 00-2-01837-9, 70% of agency fees collected during the 2000-01 fiscal year were released from escrow on December 17, 2001. The remaining 30% of agency fees collected during the 2000-01 fiscal year are still held in escrow.

During fiscal year 2000-01, there were 3,650 agency fee payers.

The total number of refund checks issued to objectors and challengers during fiscal year 2000-01 is 281.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have further questions.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Trobaugh:

This letter is to clarify the information provided in my March 21, 2002 letter.

When 70% of the agency fees collected during the 2000-01 fiscal year were released from escrow on December 17, 2001, the monies were released to the WEA general fund. None of the monies released from escrow have been transmitted to the NEA.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have further questions.

Re: Citizen Action Letter Filed By Jeanne A. Brown, January 31, 2002

Dear Mr. Stutzman:

Enclosed is the response of the National Education Association ("NEA") in the above-referenced matter. The response consists of a letter brief addressed to PDC Assistant Director Susan Harris; the text of NEA Bylaw 2, subsection 2-7(n) of which contains the authorization for the special dues increase that is at issue in this proceeding; the Declaration of NEA's Chief Financial Officer, Wayne S. Diviney; and documents showing that NEA has reimbursed the Washington Education Association for its portion of a rebate to agency fee payers ordered by Judge Gary R. Tabor in State of Washington ex rel. Public Disclosure Commission v. Washington Education Association, Thurston County Superior Court Cause No. 00-2-01837-9 (Dec. 3, 2001).

The aforementioned declaration is different in a number of respects from a draft I faxed to you yesterday at your request. I faxed you the draft in an effort to be responsive to your request for some indication of NEA's positions in this matter, with the understanding that the document was in preliminary form. Subsequently, I learned that I had used the wrong set of financial figures in preparing the draft. After additional research and analysis by several accountants employed by NEA -- including Mr. Diviney -- we have been able to correct the erroneous data in the preliminary draft. I apologize for any confusion the earlier draft might have caused.

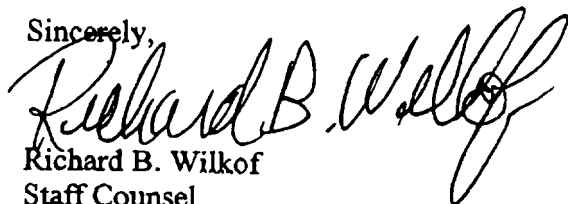

If you have any questions or comments regarding these documents, or any other matter pertaining to this proceeding, please do not hesitate to contact me. Otherwise, I plan to be present at the PDC's March 26, 2002 meeting, in order to answer any questions regarding NEA's submission.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Re: Citizen Action Letter Filed By Jeanne A. Brown, January 31, 2002

Dear Ms. Harris:

Thank you for granting the National Education Association ("NEA") the opportunity to file a response in the above-referenced matter. In that matter, the Evergreen Freedom Foundation ("EFF") and several public school employees charge NEA with having committed two violations of the Washington Public Disclosure Act:

1. NEA's creation of its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis and Media Campaign Fund constitutes an unregistered political committee in violation of Revised Code of Washington ("RCW") § 42.17.040, and the collection of monies for that Fund from Washington State public school employees via payroll deduction without first obtaining the employees' written authorization violates RCW § 42.17.680(3); and
2. NEA violates RCW § 42.17.760 by collecting agency fees from Washington State school employees which it commingles with membership dues in both its general fund and the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis and Media Campaign Fund, from which it makes disbursements to influence elections, support political committees, and influence the outcomes of ballot measures, without first obtaining the employees' affirmative authorizations.

For the reasons stated below, NEA urges the Public Disclosure Commission ("PDC") to dismiss these charges.

However, before addressing the charges directly, it is necessary to correct a misstatement that occurs throughout the EFF's letter. The letter repeatedly fails to distinguish between the separate and distinct funds that NEA created to house the monies from a special dues increase that the NEA Representative Assembly ("RA") authorized at its 2000 annual meeting. At that meeting, the delegates to the RA passed an amendment to the NEA Bylaws that increases the dues of NEA Active and Student members for a five-year period, beginning with NEA's 2000-01 membership year ("special dues increase"). The amendment provides that sixty percent of those funds raised by the special dues increase will be allocated to assist NEA state affiliates with ballot measure campaigns or legislative crises, while the remaining forty percent will be allocated to "national and state media campaigns to advance the cause of public education and to publicize the role of the Association and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education." NEA Exhibit 1 at 218. After passage of the Bylaw amendment, NEA established two separate segregated funds for the monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase: the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund; and the Media Campaign Fund. NEA Exhibit 2 at ¶ 4.

The only monies that could conceivably be at issue in this proceeding are those allocated to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, and in particular, those that were spent on ballot measure campaigns. EFF's letter not only addresses the focus funds spent in connection with ballot measure campaigns, but also activities related to media campaigns to promote public education and the role of the Association in improving the quality of public education. The latter are clearly beyond the authority of the PDC. Accordingly, unless otherwise noted, NEA's response to the EFF's charges will focus on monies going into and out of the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund.

A. Because no education employees represented by NEA and Washington Education Association ("WEA") local affiliates contributed to NEA's Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, NEA did not violate RCW § 42.17.040 by failing to register it as a political committee.

The basis for EFF's claim that NEA failed to register its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund as a political committee is the fact that in 2000, the Fund contributed $500,000 in support of two ballot measures in Washington. See EFF Exhibits G and H. Oddly enough, however, EFF's claim is undermined by the very document it cites as support: Attorney General Letter Opinion ("AGLO") No. 114. AGLO No. 114 states that a membership organization does not become a political committee merely by making contributions in support of or opposition to a candidate for office or a ballot proposition; rather, the organization must receive payments from others who have actual or constructive knowledge that such payments will be segregated and used in support of or opposition to candidates or ballot propositions. Under this principle, NEA's Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund would not constitute a political committee because the payments in question -- the $5.00 special dues increase imposed on and collected from education employees represented by WEA -- were not in fact deposited into that Fund, and consequently were not used in connection with candidate elections or ballot propositions in Washington, or anywhere else for that matter.

As EFF's own Exhibit F makes clear, NEA and WEA entered into a written agreement which expressly provided that "[n]o portion of said dues will be allocated to the component of the Fund that is used to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures."<sup>1</sup> In a desperate attempt to diminish the impact of this agreement, EFF makes the entirely unsubstantiated claim that the agreement is "a sham and has been ignored by the parties." In point of fact, nothing could be further from the truth. As the Declaration of Wayne S. Diviney, NEA's Chief Financial Officer, unequivocally demonstrates, WEA and NEA took great pains to develop a procedure that would direct into the Media Campaign Fund all the monies collected by WEA pursuant to the special dues increase. Moreover, funds from the special dues increase allocated to the Media Campaign Fund were not redirected into the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. NEA Exhibit 2 at ¶¶ 7, 9, 10. Accordingly, none of the monies collected by WEA pursuant to the special dues increase were used either directly or indirectly on ballot measures. The only special dues increase funds in the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund came from education employees in states other than Washington.

B. Because no monies deducted from the paychecks of education employees represented by the NEA and WEA locals pursuant to the special dues increase went to a "political committee," the absence of employees' written authorizations specifically for such deductions did not violate RCW § 42.17.680(3).

Since NEA's Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund does not qualify as a "political committee" under Washington State law, NEA did not violate RCW § 42.17.680(3) by failing to obtain written authorizations from the employees represented by WEA locals prior to collecting the special dues increase via payroll deduction. EFF's claim in this regard is based on the erroneous premise that monies from WEA members went into NEA's Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. However, since NEA allocated all the funds from the Washington employees' special dues increases to its Media Campaign Fund, those funds were not contributed to a political committee or used as political contributions. Consequently, the written employee authorization required in RCW § 42.17.680 was not triggered.

a specially-established segregated fund . . . with three components -- one designed to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures, a second designed to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with legislative crises, and a third designed to pay for national and state media campaigns to advance the cause of public education and publicize the role of NEA and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education." (Emphasis added.)

At the time NEA and WEA entered into the written agreement that constitutes EFF Exhibit F, NEA had not yet developed the specific mechanics for setting up the accounts for the monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase. Those mechanics were addressed during the fall of 2000, and resulted in the formation of two separate segregated funds.

C. There is no reason to penalize NEA for collecting agency fees for the 2001-02 membership year without first having obtained affirmative authorizations from nonmembers pursuant to RCW § 42.17.760.

EFF charges that NEA has violated RCW § 42.17.760 by failing to obtain affirmative authorizations from nonmembers prior to collecting agency fees via payroll deduction and depositing them in both the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund and NEA's general treasury. The basis for this charge is a recent decision by the Thurston County Superior Court in State of Washington ex rel. Public Disclosure Commission v. Washington Education Association, Thurston County Superior Court Cause No. 00-2-01837-9 (Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law filed Dec. 3, 2001), appeal pending, Case No. 2826401-II (Wash. Ct. App.) ("PDC v. WEA"). However, that decision is not controlling under the present circumstances, even assuming arguendo that it was correctly decided.<sup>2</sup>

By way of background, members of NEA pay dues not only to NEA, but also to the relevant state affiliate (e.g., WEA), local affiliate, and, in some states such as Washington, UniServ Council. Nonmembers pay agency fees based on the same multi-level structure. NEA Exhibit 2 at ¶5. WEA serves as NEA's collecting agent in Washington State for both dues and agency fees. WEA transmits NEA's share of agency fees together with its corresponding share of membership dues. Id. WEA does not transmit agency fees to NEA separately from its dues transmittals.<sup>3</sup> Since WEA charges an agency fee to nonmembers that is based on the amount of membership dues paid by members,<sup>4</sup> the special dues increase implemented pursuant to NEA Bylaw 2-7.n. would have a commensurate impact on the amount of agency fees owed by nonmembers who do not exercise their right under Chicago Teachers Union v. Hudson, 475 U.S. 292 (1986), to object to supporting financially the Association's political or ideological activities that are not germane to collective bargaining.

NEA RCW § 42.17.760 prohibits a labor organization from using agency shop fees paid by a nonmember "to make contributions or expenditures to influence an election or to operate a political committee, unless affirmatively authorized by the individual." At issue, then, is whether the NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund or NEA's general treasury contained agency fees from Washington education employees without being properly authorized.

We may quickly dispose of the issue as it pertains to the NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. RCW §42.17.760 "prohibits the labor organization from using for political purposes agency shop fees paid by non-members." State of Washington ex rel. Evergreen Freedom Foundation v. Washington Education Association, 999 P.2d 602 (Wash. 2000). As explained supra, all of the dues or agency fees collected from Washington education employees pursuant to the special dues increase are deposited in NEA's Media Campaign Fund. None of those monies are used for ballot propositions or candidate elections, and none are transferred to the NEA Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund.

<sup>2</sup> With all due respect to Judge Tabor, NEA takes issue with his conclusions, and believes that WEA's positions will be upheld on appeal.

Since the agency fees are not commingled with any other funds that are used to influence an election or support a political committee, EFF's reliance on the ruling in PDC v. WEA is inapt. Accordingly, there is no factual predicate to support EFF's charge that agency fees collected as a function of the special dues increase require prior affirmative authorization from the nonmembers under RCW § 42.17.760.

There are two reasons why the PDC should deny EFF's charge that NEA's general treasury contains agency fees that have been collected without appropriate authorization in violation of RCW § 42.17.760. First, it is our understanding that WEA already issued court-ordered rebate checks to the agency fee payers for 2001-02, and that those rebates included a portion of the fee attributable to NEA. See EFF Exhibit K. In addition, WEA billed NEA for reimbursement of NEA's share of the rebated amount, and NEA paid WEA that amount. See NEA Exhibit 3. Thus, whatever portion of the agency fees that should arguably have been collected only after prior authorization from the nonmembers has already been removed from NEA's general treasury, and to require NEA to rebate that amount again would effectively amount to double jeopardy.

EFF asserts that the 8% rebate ordered by Judge Tabor in PDC v. WEA is insufficient because NEA spends a far greater portion of its budget on "non-chargeable activities." EFF's position is baseless, for it confuses nonchargeable expenditures, as defined by agency fee case law, with the "contributions or expenditures to influence an election or to operate a political committee" proscribed in RCW § 42.17.760. The class of expenditures covered by the term "nonchargeable" is much broader than the class of expenditures that is the subject of RCW § 42.17.760. The term "nonchargeable" covers not only the class of expenditures at issue in the Washington statute, but also, inter alia, lobbying expenditures, public relations expenditures aimed at the general public, union benefits available only to members, and other expenditures not germane to collective bargaining activities.

Moreover, perusing NEA's agency fee allocations -- as they are set forth in EFF Exhibit J -- reveals that the 8% figure was overly generous. Nearly all of NEA's expenditures that are related to "contributions or expenditures to influence an election or to operate a political committee" are incurred through its Government Relations ("GR") Department. However, GR also incurs many other expenditures that are outside the scope of the expenditures defined in RCW § 42.17.760 -- e.g., legislative lobbying, advising education employees about the impact of recently enacted legislation -- and therefore could not conceivably be covered by the statute's authorization requirement. Nonetheless, if we err on the side of conservatism and consider all the expenditures incurred by GR in fiscal year 1999-2000 (i.e., the expenditures serving as the basis for NEA's agency fee calculations for the current membership year), the percentage of NEA's total expenditures that was attributable to GR is only 6.1%.<sup>5</sup> Thus, even if the decision in PDC v. WEA is ultimately upheld, it would not justify rebating any additional money to WEA agency fee payers.

<sup>5</sup> For fiscal year 1999-2000, GR activities were expensed through Descriptors 3, 4, and 5 of the Public, Parental and Business Support Strategic Priority. See EFF Exhibit J. Moreover, if we apply the same analysis to NEA's expenditures for the other fiscal years described in EFF Exhibit J -- 1996-97 through 1998-99 -- the results are no different than for fiscal year 1999-2000. For fiscal year 1996-97, the percentage of NEA's total expenditures that was attributable to GR was Second, the ruling by the Thurston County Superior Court in PDC v. WEA has been appealed by WEA to the Court of Appeals. It would be neither reasonable nor an expeditious use of the resources of the PDC or the Washington courts to litigate this claim while the appeal in that case is pending.

D. Conclusion

Based on the foregoing discussion, it is clear that the EFF's charges against NEA contained in the Citizen Action Letter filed by Jeanne A. Brown on January 31, 2002, are baseless. Accordingly, NEA urges the PDC to dismiss those charges.

Sincerely,

Richard B. Wilkof

6%; for 1997-98, the percentage was 6.4%; and for 1998-99, the percentage was 5.1%. For fiscal year 1996-97, GR activities were expensed through Strategic Activity 1.4; for 1997-98, they were expensed through Components 5-11 of Strategic Activity 1.3; and for 1998-99, they were expensed through Descriptors 3, 4, and 5 of the Public, Parental and Business Support Strategic Priority. The activities from those budget areas are also described in EFF Exhibit J.

DECLARATION OF WAYNE S. DIVINEY

I, Wayne S. Diviney, hereby declare:

1. I am employed by the National Education Association ("NEA"), in Washington, D.C., as Chief Financial Officer. I have held that position for 10 months, prior to which I was NEA's Assistant Executive Director of Administration and Finance for 10 years.

2. As Chief Financial Officer, I am responsible for NEA's business and finance operations, conference and facilities management, and subsidiary corporations (NEA Member Benefits Corporation, NEA Portal Company, and NEA Members Insurance Trust). When I served as Assistant Executive Director of Administration and Finance, among my responsibilities were NEA's business and finance operations.

3. At NEA's Annual Meeting and Representative Assembly ("RA") held in Chicago, Illinois between June 30 and July 5, 2000, the delegates approved an amendment to NEA Bylaw 2-7, Membership Dues. That amendment, which became Bylaw 2-7.n., provided that beginning with the 2000-01 membership year and continuing through the 2004-05 membership year, the annual dues of Active NEA members would be increased by $5.00. Specifically, Bylaw 2-7.n. provides in part:

Sixty percent (60%) of the money allocated to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crises and Media Campaign Fund during each membership year shall be available to assist state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures and legislative crises, and forty percent (40%) shall be available for national and state media campaigns to advance the cause of public education and publicize the role of the Association and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education.

Where necessary to avoid legal problems under state law, the Association and a state affiliate may, at the request of the state affiliate, enter into a written agreement providing that the money collected from members of that state affiliate shall not be used to deal with ballot measures, but shall be used only to deal with legislative crises and/or to fund national and state media campaigns.

(Emphasis added.) NEA's fiscal, or membership, year begins on September 1 and ends the following August 31.

4. On October 13, 2000, NEA established two separate segregated funds for the monies collected pursuant to NEA Bylaw 2-7.n. ("special dues increase"). One fund was for ballot measures and legislative crises, while the other was for national and state media campaigns. In all states where the italicized language in Paragraph 3 above did not apply, NEA planned to transmit sixty percent of each $5.00 dues increase to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, while the remaining forty percent would be transmitted to the Media Campaign Fund.

5. NEA members in Washington State pay dues via payroll deduction to four separate levels of the Association: NEA, the state affiliated organization, the UniServ Council, and the local affiliated organization. In general, a school district transmits the entire amount in either of two ways: (1) to a local association or UniServ Council, which takes its share and then forwards the remainder to the WEA, which in turn takes its share and forwards the remainder to NEA; or (2) to an automatic payroll authorization system that distributes WEA dues to WEA, NEA dues to NEA, the UniServ Council dues to the Council, and the local association's dues to the local. Where applicable, nonmembers' agency fees are transmitted in the same manner.

6. As per the italicized language in Paragraph 3 above, NEA and its state affiliate in Washington State, the Washington Education Association ("WEA"), entered into a written agreement ("Agreement") in early August 2000, providing that all monies collected from NEA members in Washington pursuant to the special dues increase would be transmitted to NEA by WEA separately from other NEA dues, and that "[n]o portion of said dues will be allocated to the component of the Fund that is used to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures."

7. NEA's Accounting office had the responsibility for developing a procedure for handling the WEA monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase in accordance with the Agreement. Under the procedure it developed, WEA sent the monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase in separate transmittals -- either by check or wire transfer -- from the rest of the dues. NEA Accounting deposited both the regular dues and the special dues increase into NEA's general treasury, and then allocated all $5.00 of the special dues increase from WEA members into the Media Campaign Fund.

8. Many of the disbursements by NEA in connection with ballot measure campaigns were made before all the special dues increases had been collected. Most of those disbursements were made even before the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund bank account was set up in October 2000. In those cases, disbursements were made out of the NEA general treasury fund, with the understanding that it would be reimbursed out of subsequent dues collections. The general treasury fund was augmented at that time with an advance from NEA's line of credit with a commercial bank. That advance was repaid against the line of credit as NEA received dues payments, including the special dues increase, during the normal course of business.

9. If during the course of a fiscal year, NEA determines that there is a need for greater ballot measure or legislative crisis financial assistance than there are funds allocated for such purposes from the special dues increase, NEA has several options to make up the difference. It can: (a) redirect funds from its general treasury that were budgeted for some other activities, assuming those activities would not be unduly disadvantaged; (b) allocate funds from its Contingency Fund, which is built into each fiscal year's budget pursuant to NEA Bylaw 11-9.c.,

and must contain at least one million dollars ($1,000,000) but no more than one percent of the budget; or (c) borrow money from a commercial lending institution. NEA has not redirected monies from the special dues increase that were allocated to the Media Campaign Fund for use in ballot measures or legislative crises.

10. Payments made by WEA for the 2000-01 fiscal year that were attributable to the special dues increase totaled $327,760. All those funds, along with forty percent of the special dues increase collections from other NEA state affiliates, were allocated to the Media Campaign Fund, creating a total of $3,658,674 available to that Fund.

11. At the end of fiscal year 2000-01 (i.e., August 31, 2001), the Media Campaign Fund had a receivable of $602,085 from the NEA general fund for dues yet to be collected from state affiliates.

12. For fiscal year 2000-01, NEA allocated a total of $9,347,921 to its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. The sources of this money were $4,996,371 from the special dues increase (excluding any funds from WEA), a total of $2,351,550 in funds originally allocated for ballot measure and legislative crisis assistance and for contingency reserves before the special dues increase was approved by the 2000 RA, and $2,000,000 in funds accrued from the 1999-2000 budget.

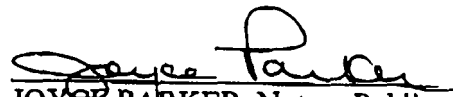

13. During fiscal year 2000-01, NEA's expenditures from its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund exceeded the amount allocated by a total of $616,086. The deficit was made up with funds from NEA's general treasury.

14. NEA and WEA have followed the same procedure for transmitting monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase during the 2001-02 fiscal year.

I certify under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Washington that the foregoing is true and correct.

DATED this 15TH day of March, 2002 at WASHINGTON, DC.

WAYNE S. DIVINEY

JOYCE PARKER, Notary Public

Re: Citizen Action Letter Filed By Jeanne A. Brown, January 31, 2002

Dear Mr. Stutzman:

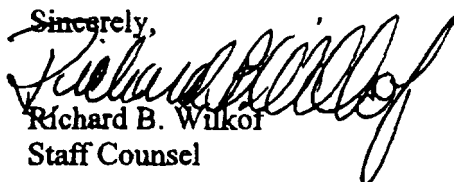

Enclosed is a revised declaration by National Education Association ("NEA") Chief Financial Officer Wayne S. Diviney, that the PDC should substitute for the original declaration included in NEA's March 15, 2002, submission in the above-referenced matter. The revised declaration corrects several financial figures that inadvertently made their way into the original.

The revisions were the result of a post-submission review of the document that NEA staff undertook in preparation for the PDC Open Meeting that was originally scheduled for March 26, but has since been rescheduled for April 9, 2002. During that review, the staff discovered that the figures in paragraphs 10 through 13 of the original declaration were from budget projections based on full-time equivalent membership estimates. Those figures should have reflected actual receipts and payments. The figures in the enclosed revised declaration reflect the appropriate schedules.

NEA apologizes for any confusion caused by this error, but believes the PDC will be better served in its evaluation of this matter if it has the correct figures. If you have any questions or concerns regarding the revision, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Richard B. Wilkof
Staff Counsel

DECLARATION OF WAYNE S. DIVINEY

I, Wayne S. Diviney, hereby declare:

1. I am employed by the National Education Association ("NEA"), in Washington, D.C., as Chief Financial Officer. I have held that position for 10 months, prior to which I was NEA's Assistant Executive Director of Administration and Finance for 10 years.

2. As Chief Financial Officer, I am responsible for NEA's business and finance operations, conference and facilities management, and subsidiary corporations (NEA Member Benefits Corporation, NEA Portal Company, and NEA Members Insurance Trust). When I served as Assistant Executive Director of Administration and Finance, among my responsibilities were NEA's business and finance operations.

3. At NEA's Annual Meeting and Representative Assembly ("RA") held in Chicago, Illinois between June 30 and July 5, 2000, the delegates approved an amendment to NEA Bylaw 2-7, Membership Dues. That amendment, which became Bylaw 2-7.n., provided that beginning with the 2000-01 membership year and continuing through the 2004-05 membership year, the annual dues of Active NEA members would be increased by $5.00. Specifically, Bylaw 2-7.n. provides in part:

Sixty percent (60%) of the money allocated to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crises and Media Campaign Fund during each membership year shall be available to assist state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures and legislative crises, and forty percent (40%) shall be available for national and state media campaigns to advance the cause of public education and publicize the role of the Association and its affiliates in improving the quality of public education.

Where necessary to avoid legal problems under state law, the Association and a state affiliate may, at the request of the state affiliate, enter into a written agreement providing that the money collected from members of that state affiliate shall not be used to deal with ballot measures, but shall be used only to deal with legislative crises and/or to fund national and state media campaigns.

(Emphasis added.) NEA's fiscal, or membership, year begins on September 1 and ends the following August 31.

4. On October 13, 2000, NEA established two separate segregated funds for the monies collected pursuant to NEA Bylaw 2-7.n. ("special dues increase"). One fund was for ballot measures and legislative crises, while the other was for national and state media campaigns. In all states where the italicized language in Paragraph 3 above did not apply, NEA planned to transmit sixty percent of each $5.00 dues increase to the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund, while the remaining forty percent would be transmitted to the Media Campaign Fund.

5. NEA members in Washington State pay dues via payroll deduction to four separate levels of the Association: NEA, the state affiliated organization, the UniServ Council, and the local affiliated organization. In general, a school district transmits the entire amount in either of two ways: (1) to a local association or UniServ Council, which takes its share and then forwards the remainder to the WEA, which in turn takes its share and forwards the remainder to NEA; or (2) to an automatic payroll authorization system that distributes WEA dues to WEA, NEA dues to NEA, the UniServ Council dues to the Council, and the local association's dues to the local. Where applicable, nonmembers' agency fees are transmitted in the same manner.

6. As per the italicized language in Paragraph 3 above, NEA and its state affiliate in Washington State, the Washington Education Association ("WEA"), entered into a written agreement ("Agreement") in early August 2000, providing that all monies collected from NEA members in Washington pursuant to the special dues increase would be transmitted to NEA by WEA separately from other NEA dues, and that "[n]o portion of said dues will be allocated to the component of the Fund that is used to assist NEA state affiliates in dealing with ballot measures."

7. NEA's Accounting office had the responsibility for developing a procedure for handling the WEA monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase in accordance with the Agreement. Under the procedure it developed, WEA sent the monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase in separate transmittals -- either by check or wire transfer -- from the rest of the dues. NEA Accounting deposited both the regular dues and the special dues increase into NEA's general treasury, and then allocated all $5.00 of the special dues increase from WEA members into the Media Campaign Fund.

8. Many of the disbursements by NEA in connection with ballot measure campaigns were made before all the special dues increases had been collected. Most of those disbursements were made even before the Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund bank account was set up in October 2000. In those cases, disbursements were made out of the NEA general treasury fund, with the understanding that it would be reimbursed out of subsequent dues collections. The general treasury fund was augmented at that time with an advance from NEA's line of credit with a commercial bank. That advance was repaid against the line of credit as NEA received dues payments, including the special dues increase, during the normal course of business.

9. If during the course of a fiscal year, NEA determines that there is a need for greater ballot measure or legislative crisis financial assistance than there are funds allocated for such purposes from the special dues increase, NEA has several options to make up the difference. It can: (a) redirect funds from its general treasury that were budgeted for some other activities, assuming those activities would not be unduly disadvantaged; (b) allocate funds from its Contingency Fund, which is built into each fiscal year's budget pursuant to NEA Bylaw 11-9.c.,

and must contain at least one million dollars ($1,000,000) but no more than one percent of the budget; or (c) borrow money from a commercial lending institution. NEA has not redirected monies from the special dues increase that were allocated to the Media Campaign Fund for use in ballot measures or legislative crises.

10. Payments made by WEA for the 2000-01 fiscal year that were attributable to the special dues increase totaled $366,290. All those funds, along with forty percent of the special dues increase collections from other NEA state affiliates, were allocated to the Media Campaign Fund, creating a total of $3,694,106 available to that Fund.

11. At the end of fiscal year 2000-01 (i.e., August 31, 2001), the Media Campaign Fund had a receivable of $625,082 from the NEA general fund for dues yet to be collected from state affiliates.

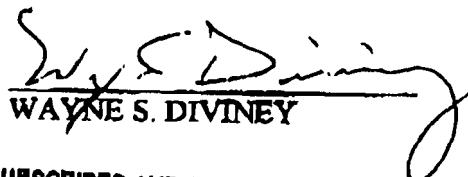

12. For fiscal year 2000-01, NEA allocated a total of $9,343,275 to its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund. The sources of this money were $4,991,725 from the special dues increase (excluding any funds from WEA), a total of $2,351,550 in funds originally allocated for ballot measure and legislative crisis assistance and for contingency reserves before the special dues increase was approved by the 2000 RA, and $2,000,000 in funds accrued from the 1999-2000 budget.

13. During fiscal year 2000-01, NEA's expenditures from its Ballot Measure/Legislative Crisis Fund exceeded the amount allocated by a total of $620,732. The deficit was made up with funds from NEA's general treasury.

14. NEA and WEA have followed the same procedure for transmitting monies collected pursuant to the special dues increase during the 2001-02 fiscal year.

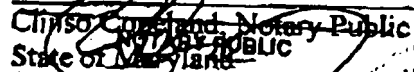

I certify under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Washington that the foregoing is true and correct.
